ABSTRACT

This document presents data on salaries of deans in U.S. undergraduate and graduate nursing programs in 17 tables. Data are based on a 1998 survey of 541 public and private universities and four-year colleges. Introductory information includes definitions of terms used in the survey, Carnegie classification definitions, a description of the survey methodology, and a summary of characteristics of participating institutions. The report presents salary percentiles on a calendar year basis by numerous respondent characteristics including title, highest earned degree, academic rank, tenure status, and years in current deanship. Highlights of the data identified include: (1) the mean calendar year salaries for 1998-1999 were $89,903 for deans (N=415) of schools belonging to the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, $63,263 for non-member deans (n=62), a 5.3 increase for member deans and a 4.1 percent increase for nonmember deans above the 1997-1998 mean salaries; and (2) the mean and median number of years in the current deanship was 7.0 and 6.0 years, respectively, with 367 deans (73.5 percent) in their first deanship and 132 (26.5 percent) reporting previous deanships. A list of institutions that provided deans' salary data are appended. (DB)

Carnegie Classification Definitions

Baccalaureate (Liberal Arts) Colleges I: These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degrees programs. They are selective in admissions and award 40 per cent or more of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields.

Baccalaureate (Liberal Arts) Colleges II: These institutions are primarily undergraduate colleges with major emphasis on baccalaureate degrees programs. They are less selective in admissions or they award less than 40 per cent of their baccalaureate degrees in liberal arts fields.

Doctoral Universities I: In addition to offering a full range of baccalaureate programs, the mission of these institutions includes a commitment to graduate education through the doctorate. They award at least 40 doctoral degrees annually in five or more academic disciplines.

Doctoral Universities II: In addition to offering a full range of baccalaureate programs, the mission of these institutions includes a commitment to graduate education through the doctorate degree. They award annually at least 10 doctoral degrees-in three or more disciplines-or 20 or more doctoral degrees in one or more disciplines.

Master's (Comprehensive) Universities and Colleges I: These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 40 or more master's degrees annually in three or more disciplines.

Master's (Comprehensive) Universities and Colleges II: These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs and are committed to graduate education through the master's degree. They award 20 or more master's degrees annually in one or more disciplines.

Research Universities I: These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate degree, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually at least $40 million or more in federal support.

Research Universities II: These institutions offer a full range of baccalaureate programs, are committed to graduate education through the doctorate degree, and give high priority to research. They award 50 or more doctoral degrees each year. In addition, they receive annually between $15.5 million and $40 million in federal support.

Professional Schools and Other Specialized Institutions: These institutions offer degrees ranging from the baccalaureate to the doctorate. At least 50 percent of the degrees awarded by these institutions are in a specialized field.

Medical schools and medical centers: These institutions award most of their professional degrees in medicine. In some instances, their programs include other health professional schools, such as dentistry, pharmacy, or nursing.

Other separate health profession schools: Institutions in this category award most of their degrees in such fields as chiropractic, nursing, pharmacy, or podiatry.

Other specialized institutions: Institutions in this category include graduate centers, maritime academies, military institutes, and institutions that do not fit any other classification category.

INTRODUCTION

The American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) was established in 1969 to answer the need for a national organization dedicated exclusively to furthering nursing education in America's universities and four-year colleges. Representing nursing education programs at 535 public and private universities and four-year colleges, AACN serves the public interest by assisting deans and directors to improve and advance nursing education, research, and practice.

The 1998-1999 Salaries of Deans in Baccalaureate and Graduate Programs in Nursing is designed to provide the most comprehensive and up-to-date salary data available for deans. Now in its 21st year of publication, this benchmarking resource presents salary percentiles on a calendar year basis by numerous respondent characteristics including title, highest earned degree, academic rank, tenure status, and years in current deanship. Percentile salaries also are presented by geographic region, institutional control, university, four-year college, academic health center affiliation, description of the nursing program, Carnegie classification, number of full-time faculty, and type of degree awarded.

SURVEY METHODOLOGY

The deans' survey instrument was designed to gather information on salaries and related information such as title, rank, degree level, tenure status, gender, and race/ethnicity. Survey forms were mailed to 665 baccalaureate and higher degree programs in nursing on September 4, 1998. Partial or complete responses were received from 541 institutions by February 22, 1999.

To ensure the privacy of data collected by AACN, any information that would divulge any monetary figures related to individual salaries or identify individual deans is classified as restricted. To further protect the confidentiality of salary data, only the 25th, 50th, and 75th percentile salaries are reported in tables where there are six to nine cases in a cell.

DEFINITION OF TERMS AND GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

Dean:

The term "dean" is used throughout this report to refer to the chief executive officer of a school of nursing. It also encompasses those individuals with institutionally determined titles such as director, chair, head, and coordinator.

Salary:

Current fiscal-year, gross salary rounded to the nearest dollar.

Salary Basis:

Academic (9- or 10-month contract) or calendar (11- or 12-month contract).

Conversion of Salaries:

All deans' salaries are reported on a calendar year basis. Salaries reported on an academic basis are multiplied by eleven-ninths (11/9). This conversion permits the salaries of all deans to appear in all tables.

Percentiles:

Values that divide a distribution of ordered data into 100 equal parts.

CHARACTERISTICS OF PARTICIPATING INSTITUTIONS

Of the 665 dean's survey forms mailed, 541 questionnaires (469 member and 72 nonmember) were returned, yielding an overall response rate of 81.3 percent. The response rate for member schools was 87.7 percent; for nonmember schools the rate was 55.4 percent. Of the 541 respondents, 42 schools (39 member and 3 nonmember) reported acting or interim deans. These individuals were excluded from the analysis of deans' salaries and related information. Table 1 presents the institutional characteristics of responding deans and Table 2 presents selected characteristics of the deans. The salaries analysis was limited to 477 institutions reporting salary and salary basis data; the list of these institutions may be found in Appendix A.

Questions about the deans' survey in general, or requests for more specific data to meet the needs of individual institutions through AACN's customized report service, should be directed to Dr. Linda E. Berlin at (202) 463-6930 x225, or via e-mail to lberlin@aacn.nche.edu

HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ The mean calendar year salaries for 1998-1999 were $89,903 for member deans (N=415), and $63,263 for nonmember deans (N=62). These salaries represent a 5.3 percent increase for member deans and a 4.1 percent increase for nonmember deans above the 1997-1998 mean salaries.
- ◆ The mean and median number of years in the current deanship was 7.0 and 6.0 years, respectively. Three hundred sixty-seven deans (73.5%) were in their first deanship, while 132 (26.5%) reported holding previous deanships (Table 2).
